Ramaya Tegegne (1985) lives and works in Geneva. Her installations, videos, performances and publications interrogate the established narratives of art history by reflecting on the various social, historical and economic contexts that make and unmake this history. Tegegne uses the concept of 'gossip' to create new ways of collectively thinking through the dynamics of trust, intimacy and sharing. By quoting, borrowing and reworking the practices of other artists, she reconstructs lives, stories and anecdotes that reveal the structural bias of certain art historical chronologies. Selected exhibitions include 2015— Curated by_Vienna 2015 curated by Catherine Chevalier & Benjamin Hirte, Galerie Emanuel Layr, Vienna; Somebody in New York Loves Me, Fri Art, Fribourg; that someone else has underlined?, Twenty Years, Berlin; Stipendium Vordemberge-Gildewart, CentrePasquArt, Bienne; G.I.F.T., Der TANK, Basel. 2014— Respective, Marbriers 4, Genève; Refresh, Curtat Tunnel, Lausanne; New Heads Art Awards, Live In Your Head, Genève.

Carla Åhlander (1966, Lund, Sweden) lives and works in Berlin. She mainly works with photography and uses the media as a tool to present everyday life as miniature events and structures in panoramic land- or cityscapes. The immediate situations Åhlander is attracted to and documents in her photographs are rather subtle appearances of power relations and systems of order — in all shades and from the vocabulary of everyday life — situations where something is about to happen or could happen, taken from a multiple of contexts, often with no beginning or end in narrative terms. Selected exhibitions include 2014— Noteringar: tillstånd, platter, Fotogalleriet Format, Malmö. 2013— Perspektiven, After Work, billboards for subway station Schwarzkopffstraße, nGbK, Berlin. 2012— Traffic Island, Smallroomevents, Berlin. 2011— Mellan händelser, Martin Bryder Gallery, Lund. 2010— Police the Police, Biennial for Young Art in Bucharest; Touched, Liverpool Biennial. 2009— Immortality, TENT — Center for Visual Arts, Rotterdam. Currently she is working on a research project during her residency at the German Study Centre in Venice.
